Ready to accelerate your print-buying career, network with other buyers and print production managers, and get the recognition you deserve? Print Buyers Online and PCPI are bringing their popular Print Production Professional (PPP) certification class to a city near you.

Save 20% and reduce your travel costs by attending this local Print Production Professional certification class — a daylong course designed to help you prepare for your PPP exam, a core certification that documents your print competency and the value you bring to your organization. This is the only New England stop on this 10-city certification tour currently; past stops include Brown-Forman (KY), Ivie & Associates (TX) and Ogilvy Public Relations Worldwide (DC).

Your $499 registration fee includes this class (taught by industry expert Harry Waldman), printed self-study materials, a “lunch & learn” networking opportunity, and your exam fee. You may take the exam at any time, and, upon passing, your Print Production Professional certification is good for five years and you may use the PPP designation on your business cards.

Register by visiting www.concordlitho.com/PPP today. For more information on PPP certification, visit www.pcp.org. See you in Concord!

Concord Litho is a proud host site on the 2008 Print Buyer Certification Roadshow, brought to you by the Print Buyers Online and PCPI teams. Register for this event by October 1 for a special gift from Concord Litho. Visit www.concordlitho.com/PPP for details.
